

CHAPTER 6

CONCLUSION

6.1 Conclusion

Conclusion of this project are:

1. Applications can be used to access the price data of basic commodities so that people know the original price based on data from the Ministry of Trade's web site.
2. Applications can display price data and statistical calculations (mean, median, mode). In addition, price data can be displayed in graphical form.

6.2 Further Research

For further research, the price monitoring of basic commodities application can be developed. Development can be done on statistical calculations that can be added to other formulas to be more useful. In addition, the interface on the application can also be improved to make it more interesting.