CHAPTER 6
CONCLUSION

This online shopping application to simplify customer in meet daily needs without having to come to the store. Because with this application, customers can shop based on nearby store that appear on the map. the store admin can figure out the stuff that is needed by the customer from the customer's orders goods.

For the next section of this study, a suggestion for admin store on this research would still have to do some checking customer orders manually and periodically because the Admin does not have a command notification when customer orders. Then for the next to this research it can be added that the store admin can get order notification when there is new incoming orders.
