CHAPTER 6
CONCLUSION

The conclusions of this project are:

Arduino must be connected to the internet in order to retrieve data from thingspeak via ESP8266 and can translate commands to run toy cars.

In the future the development of this project can change the command input from a more practical and more precise so there is no error in the input of the car toy. This project requires more precision so there is no harm in orders for toy cars.