

CHAPTER 6

CONCLUSION

6.1 Conclusion

This program application is for hospital queue. Function of this application to make it easier for users to queue from afar and at any time. This application it's still prototype.

6.2 Further Research

For advanced research of this application, it still needs to fix bugs and in calling the user to be served and after the user is finished served still has bugs. For users interface on this application need maps in real time when user make a queue.

