

CHAPTER III

Planning

3.1. Research Methodology

The writer analyses the problem before getting through the solution. Start from collecting the references from any kinds of source, such as the Internet, the Lecturers, and many more. After collecting the references, the writer chooses the best data structures and algorithm to solve the problem. In order to make the project goal reached, it is planned in the table time, from the first thing to do and time schedule until the last things.
