

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

In chapter 5, the writer will make a conclusion. The conclusion is based on the findings. According to the study the writer has done, Mulan interrupted, because she is shocked, because the government did not consider her father who is injured to not to join military anymore. In writer's opinion, Mulan should speak politely after the announcement. The writer's suggestion for women in this era is they need to learn to communicate and take courage.

Mulan disguised as a man, because women are not permitted to work as soldiers, because the Emperor think women have lack of experience in war. Therefore, women need to practice before they signed up for military. And, never give up like Mulan.

Mulan joined war, violated women stereotype, and risk herself to bring his father honor and save China. Therefore, women in this era should imitate Mulan's bravery. If they are bullied or discriminated, they have to stand up for themselves. Besides that, women should change the mindset that women cannot do men's work. For example, when there is no man around, woman should exchange the lamp by herself.

Women are not permitted to join military. Women mobility is restricted. If there is a woman who secretly get involved in politic, her husband would divorce her, because he is afraid the government thinks that they are unilateral. In fact, there will be many advantages by permitting women to work, because every person has different function. Women are good in Literature, specifically in writing political articles. If the government permits women to get involved to politic, writer like Zuo Jia and Qiu Jin can make articles which would attract youngsters. Women are not permitted to join military. Women are not permitted choosing spouses for the sake of men's benefit, specifically to help them gain wealth, etc. The writer thinks the government should stop the restriction, if they want their country to be developed and be role model for other countries. Besides that, the issue of the country has attracted students for debate topic which might lead to rally later on. Moreover, decision which is taken unilaterally can make women suffer. Hence, parents should respect their daughters' decision, because the daughters who will run their lives, not them. And, the writer thinks the abolishment of marriage restriction should be continued for the future. After all, women have gotten their freedom of speech and can find their own spouses.

Women do not have freedom of speech. Their words regarded nothing to men. Women are claimed citizens whose social statuses lower than men. According to writer's opinion, the restriction should be abolished, because freedom of speech is essential. If the citizens may not give suggestion or critique for the country, then the country cannot be developed, because the government manages the country by themselves without listening to citizens' concerns. Besides that, the government should listen to citizens' voices, because they might be able to solve their country's problems, such as women empowerment, Gross Domestic Product (GDP), etc a lot better.
