

Chapter V

CONCLUSION

In this section, the writer will discuss about the conclusion of overall problem formulation in this research. The conclusions are:

The situational Transgender that can be found in the novel are : Einar expectations is to become a husband from Greta as his wife and keep the abnormal behaviors, but in this novel, Einar Wegener has made it clear that he wants change his sex identity from male to female as psychology not mentally. And between what is and what would seem appropriate, the ideal situation is he can keep the transgender behavior and become the lovely husband from his wife as Greta but Einar was change his sex identity and marriage with the another man. These are the proof of transgender situation in the novel The Danish Girl. In this thesis the writer also talk mention that the defined of unusual marriage because to support and show the differences with main discussion in this thesis. However the writer still has the main focus in the situational transgender as the problem. The relation between the situational transgender and the character's conflicts of Einar Wegener is that Einar Wegener has the abnormal behavior since he was a child and it develops when he got marriage with Greta. In that time, the abnormal behavior begin he got the support from his wife to be a painting female model. The transgender situation gives the effect through in the Einar life until he decides to change his sex identity from male to female. It was not change from mentally but only in the physically in the Einar life. So from the discussion above, we can say that the relationship between the situational transgender and the character's conflict of Einar Wegener is complicated and situational transgender can change and give the abnormal effect to someone's character's from he was a normal in the behavior and physically to abnormal behavior and physically to face the bitter fact in the reality. That think has become the main conflict in Einar life and the conflict had been development by itself in Einar life. It caused Einar, couldn't stop the problem to not development inside but he always followed what the problem ask. The relation between the situational transgender with the character to how solve the conflicts is complicated. It caused the character used the sex surgery to solve the conflict, even though in that time people felt impossible to did that, it caused there aren't any doctor to did. There are any steps of the therapies to finish and get the pass of sex surgery that was make people felt impossible to do that. But it was different with what Einar ask, he want to change his life to be female in physically not mentally. His thing that was the way to solve his psychological problem in his life so he has chosen to take the sex surgery also people known as Transsexual. The meaning of Transsexual is every human who want to change his sex identity in physically not mentally with took the sex surgery that is the Transsexual.
