Comment for Authors: Please explain to the Author for revision.

- Your topic is very interesting to apply technologies that able to help the business owner.
- It is better if you can show more results from the system implementation.
- 30 students to answer the survey, it might not enough .. better ask people who buy the ticket to see the performance.

Comment for Authors: Please explain to the Author for revision.

The title and paper content are NOT consistent in term of the modest Android application development. The main point of work is the business strategy based on several digital tech services and using benefit of social media network. It also combines many things that integrates many modern technologies for new generation of people to compromise and maintain the classical performance. Some shows that the paper content and figures are rarely supported each other.

Comment for Authors: Please explain to the Author for revision.

This paper explores the technical aspects in developing an Android application for the entrepreneurship in art and culture organization.The technology entrepreneurship model is also discussed. The paper is well-written, however, there are some points that could be improved.

- There are some grammatical mistakes that must be corrected. For example "RSS feed to be catch" <-- caught.
- I'm not sure about the purpose of this work. If it is the study or exploration of the suitable technology to support the entrepreneurship in art and culture organization, if would be more interesting if the authors could show the comparison between various techniques and discuss about pros and cons of each technique. However, if the purpose is to propose a framework/model, then there should be a proof of concept or evaluation of the proposed model.
