Comment About the Paper: Please give an additional comment for this paper.

Spelling and grammar are bad in certain part of the text. Word such as catholic is spelt wrongly, "to examine" not "to examining", "The 200 questionnaires" should be written as "The answers of two questionnaires" and unnecessary used of capital letter for word etc. Based on text, there are three groups of students in the study which are existing student, purposive student, and prospective student. Data does not show the breakdown of these student groups. Suggest to write complete sentence instead of witting sentence end with reference number as object. Based on the data, it appears to be there were 200 sample students taken and each was given 20 questionnaires to answer. This should make up of 4,000 questionnaires in total. Note in abstract, it mentioned 200 questionnaires. No final conclusion is found in the paper.

Comment About the Paper: Please give an additional comment for this paper.

Severe grammatical errors. The article is missing of

1. Research gap,
2. Discussions of insignificant results (PEU and PU) and
3. Implication of the findings.

The article is recommended to be accepted after addressing the above issues.
